What famous journeys have been made in the past?

Walter Raleigh was a sailor and explorer who lived during the Tudor and Stuart periods.

This is a representation of the sinking of RMS Titanic. It was sailing to America with 2200 passengers.

Facing anti-Semitism in their own country, many Jewish children came to Britain as refugees. They were part of a movement of almost 10,000 children to Britain from Central Europe, known as the Kindertransport.

492 passengers on the Empire Windrush came to settle in the UK. Sadly, they faced prejudice and discrimination from some.
