The History of Toys

Materials that toys are made from

Past toys were mostly made from wood, metal or fabric.

Present toys are often made from plastic and are colourful.

Changes in toys over time

Toys in the past were usually simple and handmade.

Toys today are made in factories. They can light up, make sounds or move with batteries.

How children played differently

Children mostly played outside in the past, creating their own games.

They often had to help with jobs before they could play.

Children today spend more time indoors. Toys like video consoles allow us to play games online with friends.
